House Group Approves Fund To Build Schools

Doubtful Bill Can Be Passed Before Adjournment

By United Press

The House Labor and Education committee today approved a bill to authorize the government to grant $1,600,000,000 to the states in a four-year program of school construction.

The vote was 21 to 9. The committee authorized chairman Graham A. Barden (D-N.C.) to ask the Rules committee to clear the measure immediately for action by the House.

Committee members were doubtful, however, that the bill can get through Congress before adjournment.

The measure would also authorize the federal government to buy bonds of school districts and to guarantee the credit of state building agencies.

Other congressional news:

Price Props: The Commodity Credit Corp. asked congress for $2,000,000,000 more in borrowing authority. It said that otherwise it probably will run out of farm price support money by November. The present limit on CCC borrowing is $10,000,000,000. Congress has twice before boosted the agency's borrowing authority.

Memorials: The Senate passed and sent to the House legislation providing for memorials to President Roosevelt and Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio). The Taft memorial would be a bell tower erected on the capitol grounds by public subscription. A commission would be created to plan the Roosevelt memorial. A $10,000 authorization would be authorized to finance its work.

Foreign Aid: Leaders of both parties predicted the Senate would approve most of the foreign aid funds requested by President Eisenhower.

Debate was scheduled on a bill approved by the Senate Appropriations committee to provide $3,295,341,750. This was only $61,300,000 less than the administration originally asked and a considerably higher amount than voted by the House.

The House voted $2,838,741,750 in foreign aid funds, cutting the administration's original request by $627,900,000, or about 20 per cent. Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland said he expected the Senate to pass a bill "substantially in the form" as that recommended by the appropriations committee. Similar forecasts came from the Democratic leadership.

But Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) planned a major effort to knock out some 420 million dollars of the military aid provided by the bill.

A final vote was expected late today or Saturday.

Boy, 13, Fights Off Savage Bear to Rescue Zoo Keeper

CROWN POINT, Ind. (UP)—A 13-year-old boy walked into a bear's cage and fended off the savage animal until a wounded zoo keeper could escape.

Randall Froedge, a student at Crown Point High School, rescued William C. McCord, 64, with whom he frequently made the rounds at the Lake County fair grounds zoo.

The zoo keeper went into the cage occupied by a 175-pound cinnamon bear and its mate.

With sudden fury, the male bear swiped once with his fore foot and severely raked McCord's left leg.

Randall grabbed a shovel and went into the cage. He swung the shovel, forcing the bear away, until McCord could get out.

Then the boy cautiously backed out himself, still swinging the shovel.

The female bear did not move in to attack during the battle.

McCord was treated at a hospital for the laceration.

Randall's mother, Mrs. Samuel Froedge, said her son "likes animals and has often thought of being a keeper."

County Board Supports Humane Society Animal Welfare Program

The Saline County Board of Supervisors yesterday voted unanimously to back the work of the Harrisburg Humane society in its animal welfare program, which calls for the enforcement of the humane laws of the state including "coon on the log" events.

The motion was made by Tom Maxwell, Eldorado, after Mrs. Tim Turner, president of the society, asked for the support of the board in the society's work.

Mrs. Turner spoke of a recent "coon on the log" event, held June 12 at Saline Four mine pond, which went to trial and in which a county court jury found the defendants not guilty.

She produced letters the society had received from Joseph D. Bibb, director of the Department of Public Safety, and from the Department of Conservation, both at Springfield, regarding "coon on the log" events.

Bibb's letter to her advised that a state police investigation revealed there were "definite violations" of the state law in the staging of the "extravaganza" and the letter from the State Department of Conservation declared "you are correct in stating that 'coon on the log' events are contrary to state law."

"The county board has been given powers by the statutes to take action on cruelty, although the coon on the log informations were not filed on cruelty charges," Mrs. Turner stated. "We pressed the charges on the grounds that the mere staging of the event was against the law, which prohibits the fighting or baiting of any bull, bear, dog, cock or other creature. This is found in Paragraph 146 of Chapter 38 of the Illinois Revised Statutes."

"It looks to me, then," said Vernon Smith, Harrisburg, "that the fact that the event was staged was a violation of the law, and cruelty was not involved in the case at all. Is that right?"

"That's absolutely correct," was the answer.

Food Commodities Resolution

Mrs. Turner stated further that there were a lot of comments made at the time of the trial that the humane society would next try to stop people from hunting birds and rabbits.

"Nothing is further from the truth," she said. "We are against only those things which are against the law and hunting is out of the picture. Why, we have turned out scores of good hunting dogs from the humane shelter to men who intend to use them for hunting. When a man is hunting he does not have a helpless animal chained and out on a log for dogs to attack."

To Select Name For Youth Center At Meeting Tonight

The junior and senior boards of the Harrisburg Youth Center met last night. It was voted to accept a constitution which was presented by Dale Sullivan.

In the constitution it stated that the junior and senior boards would be known as the Harrisburg Youth Council and four regular meetings would be held a year, in January, April, July and October.

Fred McKenzie, chairman of the youth junior board, gave a report of the youth meeting at which time it was suggested to open the center another night. Names for the center which were submitted by the members were voted on and the best ones selected. The list will be read to the members at tonight's meeting and a final name selected for the Youth Center.

A committee was appointed to check on the purchasing of a television set for the center. Also committees were appointed to discuss a project for raising money and to find a person to be at the center each time it is opened to work with the chapters.

It was announced that two ping pong tables donated by Don Garrison and Wendell Bramlet have been set up at the center and a new type Coca Cola machine has been installed. Suggestions were made for redecorating the lounge.

Mrs. Carl Rude read a letter which is to go to all organizations sponsoring the center, telling them briefly what has been accomplished and urging them to appoint alternate delegates.

The Presbyterian women will give a special party at the center tonight for members only. Refreshments will be served.

Auto Damaged

An auto driven by Mrs. Guy Daniel left Route 34-145 about four miles south of Harrisburg this morning when a tire blew out. Mrs. Daniel was not hurt but the auto was damaged extensively. She was driving north on the highway when the car left the road at a culvert, ran down an embankment and crashed into two trees. The county sheriff's force handled the accident.

Shawnee Forest Completing New Gravel Road

The Shawnee National Forest this summer is completing a gravel road that runs from Delwood on the new Route 145 to Herod on Route 34. Supervisor E. N. Lee reported today.

This eight-mile stretch will pass by Williams Hill in the Shawnee Forest area. About half of the work, on the Herod side, was completed last year.

Mr. Lee said that six inches of gravel are being placed on a 16-foot wide strip and added "that this will not be a high speed road but an all-weather road for the benefit of the people."

George Glass has the contract for delivery of the gravel and Shawnee Forest personnel are doing the work.

"As money is available, we will rework other roads in the forest area," Mr. Lee stated.

Taxicab Driver Charged With Trunk Murder

ST. LOUIS (UP)—Taxicab driver Bobby Davis Martin was charged today with the murder of Bobby Carr, 24-year-old decorated Marine veteran.

Carr had been shot three times and stabbed in the heart.

The warrant was issued by State's Atty. Fred P. Schuman of Madison County, Ill., where Carr's body was found in the trunk of his automobile after it was towed into nearby Livingston.

Police said they were informed that Martin and Carr had quarreled recently over Mrs. Carr who was living in an apartment occupied by Martin and another woman.

Martin served a term in a Louisiana institution in 1951 on a narcotics charge, police said.

The dead man's wife, Mrs. Bernice Violet Carr, 25, told police that she was afraid to discuss her husband's murder because "I'm afraid I might end up in the trunk of an automobile, too."

A .38 caliber revolver and a springblade knife were found by police in Martin's apartment, and a bloodstained bedsheet was found in his car.

Police also reported they had located a witness who said he saw two men park the auto in which Carr's body was found on the parking lot of a coal mine at Williamson, Ill., and drive away in another car.

Carr was awarded the Silver star, a Bronze Star and a Presidential citation for service with the Marines in Korea. He was discharged in 1952 and since then had been working as a cab driver and salesman.

His father, John Carr, operated the St. Louis county tourist court where Carl Austin Hall, kidnaper of Bobby Greenleaf, stayed with a woman the night before he was arrested.

Carr was stabbed and shot three times.

Dr. Henry Halley, Alton, Ill., who examined the body, said the stab wound was apparently the fatal one. The bullets, he said, were fired into the body minutes after the stabbing.

Halley said that Carr had been dead about two days.

Carr's mother, who operates the Winston Hotel with her husband, told police that he left his room there Tuesday about 4 p. m.

It was the third murder in less than a month in which the victims' bodies were left in the trunks of their parked cars in the St. Louis area. Livingston is about 30 miles north of St. Louis.

Attorneys to Discuss New Divorce Law

Will Meet with Judge Wright Here On July 29

A new state law is now in effect that requires a 60-day "cooling off" period in divorce and separate maintenance cases except in emergencies—and details are expected to be worked out by Saline county attorneys July 29.

On that date Circuit Judge Clarence E. Wright of Carbondale will be in Harrisburg for court duty and officers of the Saline County Bar association are arranging a noon luncheon on that day to discuss the law with Judge Wright.

The legislation went into effect July 16, the day it was signed by Gov. William G. Stratton. This Revised Divorce act calls for a "cooling off" period in divorce actions in an effort to save marriages and materially alters statutory procedures, including the form of summons.

Commencement of Action

The legislation provides for a commencement of divorce action by "filing a praecipe for summons with the clerk of the court and paying the regular filing fees."

Regarding the form of summons, the law declares the summons must say the plaintiff has commenced suit for divorce and require the defendant to file an "appearance" not later than 20 days from the day the summons is served, and to file an "answer" within 20 days from the date the complaint is filed.

The appearance, the act explains, means something on the order of "I hereby enter my appearance," but it is not a waiver of summons such as the appearance forms commonly used in Illinois outside of Cook county.

The law says further:

No complaint shall be filed until 60 days from the date the summons is served. If served by publication, then 60 days from the last day of publication. If service is waived, then 60 days from the date of the defendant's appearance in person or by counsel.

Court May Waive Period

The complaint must be filed not later than 90 days from the date the praecipe is filed, not later than 70 days from the day the summons is served; if service is by publication, not later than 70 days from the date of last publication; and if service is waived, not later than 70 days from the date of the defendant's appearance in person or by counsel.

If a defendant's appearance is filed before the complaint is filed, as would be the usual case, the plaintiff must serve a copy of the complaint on the defendant within two days after the complaint is filed.

However, the court may waive the 60-day probation as to filing the complaint, upon written motion supported by affidavit. There is no provision authorizing such waiver by a judge when the court is not in session.

Winkleman Moves Typewriter Service

Henry Winkleman is moving his Henry's Typewriting Service from North Vine street to the larger room on South Main street being vacated by C. E. Taylor's Frigidaire store.

The new location will enable Winkleman to improve his stock and service, he said today. He expects to be open for business on South Main street around the first of August.

Taylor, who with Bob Wilson bought the Ford automobile agency recently, is discontinuing home appliances and is continuing his commercial Frigidaire business at the garage location on East Locust street.

Congressman Seeks to Halt Deportation Of Daughter of Ex-GI, Italian-Born Wife

DAYTON, Ohio (UP)—An Ohio congressman today assured an ex-GI and his Italian-born wife that he would do everything possible to prevent the deportation of their 4-year-old daughter.

The U. S. Immigration Service has notified Leslie F. Thomas, of Dayton, that his daughter, Jane Edith, must leave the country although born in a U. S. Army hospital in Trieste while Thomas was stationed there.

But Rep. Paul F. Schenck (R-Ohio) said he would place the matter before Rep. Francis Walter (R-Pa.), chairman of the House subcommittee on immigration.

Schenck said he proposes a bill that would legalize the child's residence by an act of Congress. The Thomases have until Sept. 30 before Jane must leave the country.

Thomas met and married his Italian wife while serving in Trieste. The girl was born in Trieste in 1952 when the Thomases returned to this country.

Later, however, Thomas received

Most Congressmen Cheer Eisenhower Plan; 'Terrible', Comments One Republican

WASHINGTON (UP)—Most of Congress cheered President Eisenhower's bold plan for a big power exchange of military information today. But a long-standing distrust of Russia kept the verdict from being unanimous.

"I think it's terrible," was the angry but private comment of one Republican leader.

Some of those who applauded were skeptical that Russia would accept Mr. Eisenhower's plan to trade maps of military installations and rights for aerial reconnaissance of these defense areas.

But those who approved generally viewed the proposal as a tactical coup which put Russia on the spot and provided what Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.) called the "acid test" of Soviet sincerity.

The administration had given congressional leaders in both parties a confidential tip-off that Mr. Eisenhower might unveil the plan at the Geneva conference Thursday.

Statements of Approval

When the news came, George and other Senate Democratic leaders, including Floor Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, hospitalized for three weeks by a heart attack, were ready with statements of approval.

The loudest backing, in fact, came from the Democrats. Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland and Chairman Styles Bridges of the Senate GOP Policy committee declined to comment. Knowland explaining that he would say nothing about the conference until it ends.

In the House, Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. said Mr. Eisenhower's proposal "might be the step which would lead to peace." Assistant GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck said Soviet acceptance would be "one magnificent accomplishment" of the conference.

But Rep. John M. Vorys (R-Ohio) of the foreign affairs committee was not satisfied. The exchange of blueprints, he said, "with people who have been known

File Murder Charge in Death Of Town Marshal

MOUNT VERNON, Ind. (UP)—A first degree murder charge was on file today against an Illinois man in the death of a town marshal who apparently suffered a fatal heart attack while struggling for a gun.

The indictment was handed down late Thursday by a Posey Circuit Court Grand Jury against Norman E. Atchison, 31, Mount Vernon, Ill. He was accused in the death of New Harmony Marshal Ralph Fisher, 45, who "flushed" Atchison and his younger brother, Lowell, while they burglarized the New Harmony Tavern.

Fisher, who was ill with a chronic heart ailment, died during a struggle for the marshal's gun. An autopsy into the cause of death showed no evidence of a fatal blow or bullet wound.

The Atchisons also were charged with second degree burglary and auto banditry.

Arrest Husband After Wife, Another Man Shot in Parked Car

DAVENPORT, Iowa (UP)—Police arrested Thomas Lee, 34, Moline, Ill., early today after his wife and another man were shot as they sat in a parked car Thursday night two miles north of here.

Mrs. Jo Anne Lee, 25, and Lester Lafrenz, 34, Davenport, were listed in "satisfactory" condition in a hospital with wounds inflicted with a 16-gauge shotgun.

Police said Lee admitted the shootings and would be charged with assault with intent to murder.

to fake blueprints is not very satisfactory."

"Daring, Imaginative Stroke"

The hospitalized Johnson issued a statement calling the plan "the daring, imaginative stroke for which a war-weary world has been waiting." Acting Senate Democratic Leader Earle C. Clements said the success of the Geneva conference would depend on the Communist answer.

George said the United States has nothing to lose in the plan because a free people lives in a "fish bowl." And Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services committee said the Russians already probably have 12 maps of U. S. military installations for every one this country has of Russia.

He and Chairman James P. Richard (D-SC) of the House Foreign Affairs committee were among those who doubted that Russia would accept.

"I think there is as much chance for a snowball in hell as there is for the Russians to say 'yes' to the plan," said Richard.

Eisenhower Is Dominating Figure at Talks

GENEVA (UP)—President Eisenhower's dramatic appeal to the Russians to trade arms secrets, as proof of a mutual desire for peace, made him today the unqualified dominating figure of the Geneva summit conference.

One high French delegation spokesman said the French feel that Mr. Eisenhower has inherited the mantle of retired former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill as "the world's foremost statesman."

This new assertion of world leadership by the American chief executive has been built surely and rapidly by the summit conference by his obvious sincerity, and the earnest and convincing way he has made his points—both inside and outside the conference chamber.

French Premier Edgar Faure, deeply moved by the President's daring proposal to the Russians Thursday put it this way: Mr. Eisenhower, by his bold stroke "has scored the first great victory over skepticism."

Geneva and much of the world's press have been similarly captivated by his personal warmth, sincerity and great humanity.

The President is no maker of great and resounding phrases in the tradition of Churchill.

In fact, his bold proposal of Thursday was made in rough, looping and grasping language—typical of his presentation of an idea that is expressed in his own way, without the aid of ghost writers.

But even the British, whose concept of diplomacy is more orthodox and straight-laced, agreed today that Mr. Eisenhower's personal diplomacy had done more than any other single thing to ease the 10-year-old suspicions and distrust of the Cold War and generate a new mood of confidence.

His arms secrets exchange plan was a very personal stroke.

Today that all-absorbing topic of conversation among delegates at Geneva was "this great voice" in which the President spoke. Press comments indicated that the people of the world had indeed heard and were impressed.

To Select Miss Universe Tonight

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UP)—The most beautiful girl in the world will be chosen tonight from among Miss United States and 14 foreign beauties in the climax of the Miss Universe contest.

Miss U. S. A., Carlene King Johnson, 22, of Vermont, and the 14 foreign girls were selected as semi-finalists Thursday night out of 23 beauties in competition for the Miss Universe crown. Forty-two American girls were eliminated on Wednesday night when Miss Johnson became Miss U. S. A.

Thursday night's 15 survivors will enter the semi-finals tonight, with five being selected as finalists. Miss Universe then will be picked from the finalists. The remaining four finalists, her runners up, will be listed as they finish behind her, in second, third, fourth and fifth place.

Plea Follows Proposal to Trade Secrets

Big Four Schedule Secret Session For Saturday

By MERRIMAN SMITH

United Press White House Wire

GENEVA (UP)—President Eisenhower Friday coupled his dramatic proposal that the United States and Russia swap arms secrets with a new plea to the Soviets to tear down their Iron Curtain against ideas, travel and peaceful trade.

The Big Four summit conference already had been thrown off schedule by apparent Soviet uncertainty on the secrets-trading plan when the President introduced his new plea.

At Mr. Eisenhower's suggestion, the heads of government scheduled a special, secret session for 11 a. m. (7 a. m. CDT) Saturday in an effort to rock the conference off dead center in its waning hours.

It was believed possible the Soviets might respond to the President's proposals at that meeting, at which only four members of each delegation will be present.

Officially, the special session will be for the purpose of receiving a twice delayed report of the Big Four foreign ministers on their recommendations for further, post-conference study of the major problems of German reunification, European security and disarmament.

Secret Meeting Set

Presumably the "secrecy" provision covering Saturday's summit meeting meant there would be no public announcement of decisions and results beyond a brief summary communiqué.

Extensive press briefings have been given by all four delegations following all previous closed-door sessions.

President Eisenhower, presiding, said it was necessary to establish a better flow of ideas, news, and peoples to improve contacts. He proposed a three-step plan.

1. "To lower the barriers which now impede the flow of information and ideas between our two peoples."

2. "To lower the barriers which now impede the opportunities of people to travel anywhere in the world for peaceful, friendly purposes so that all will have a chance to know each other face to face."

3. To create conditions which will encourage nations to increase the exchange of peaceful goods throughout the world."

The President's startling challenge to the Russians to prove their sincerity for peace fell with thunderous impact on the summit conference of the Big Four.

An electrical storm broke over the Palace of Nations late Thursday when the President was making his heartfelt plea to the Soviets to exchange blueprints of military installations and rights to take aerial photographs of each other's territories.

Just as he finished, the lights went out.

"I didn't expect to blow out the lights," Mr. Eisenhower said in the darkened, silent chamber.

But he did—figuratively.

His unexpected proposal was the talk of the conference, where the foreign ministers met in the morning to plan through a heavy load of preparatory work before the heads of government meeting.

Proposals Bring Hope

Newspaper reaction showed the President's offer sent a surge of hope for peace through Europe. At the United Nations in New York, diplomats applauded the plan, but doubted that Russia would accept it. In Washington most members of Congress hailed the offer.

One member of the French delegation here said Mr. Eisenhower's move strengthened his view that the Americans have out-manuevered the Russians at every turn in this conference.

Western diplomats watched for a possible Soviet counter-stroke in the closing hours of the Big Four parley.

They estimated the odds were against Russian acceptance of the proposal, even though the President appealed to them to think twice.

Whiter Peron?

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

As time passes, the initial post-revolution judgment of Argentine President Peron's position seems confirmed. He has not been materially weakened for the short run but his long-term prospects are more precarious.

For a while after the rebellion died down, rumors flew that Peron no longer was in full command, that he had become in fact a creature of the Army whose loyalty had saved his skin.

Evidence indicated that Peron had indeed given Army Minister General Lucero responsibility for Argentina's security. The general also became head of all the armed forces, a post normally held by Peron.

But Lucero did not keep these powers. What the outside world does not know is whether the Army exacted any sort of price for returning them to Peron.

It is always possible, of course, that the appearances are illusory, and that Peron's status never was in serious jeopardy once the revolt had been crushed.

But if this is not so, then there is some sense in the thought that the Army might have gained concessions from Peron. But it is significant that he did not fill cabinet vacancies with Army men. It is reported that the Army hopes to get rid of him, but wants to do it gradually.

One notes first off that since the revolt Peron has toned down his bitter attacks on the Catholic church. He says now that the government will protect all church property. And there are reports that some kind of agreement between Church and State may be drafted.

Most Argentines are Catholics, and the signs suggest strongly that Peron's anti-Catholic campaign was not popular. The rebels timed their uprising to coincide with what they judged was a restless mood among the people.

Even before the mid-June revolt, it was being widely predicted that Peron had overreached himself in trying to cripple the power of the Catholic church.

In this effort he was following the time-honored course of the dictator, who seeks progressively to crush every rival nucleus of strength in his country. But he was hardly pursuing the path of wisdom.

How long he lasts from here on out will depend in large degree on how carefully he can avoid reaching too far another time. Most experts believe that ultimately he is doomed to fall.

If somehow he escapes that fate for more years than they imagine, in any event he seems destined to remain the second-rate tyrant he always has been.

'New China' is Old Tyranny

The Asian neutralists constantly refer to the Peiping regime as the "New China," implying thereby that a great and wonderful era of progress is now unfolding behind the Bamboo Curtain.

Not too well publicized is the fact that an Indian labor union delegation which visited Red China this spring left the country abruptly, two weeks ahead of schedule. The delegates were shocked at the conditions they discovered in the "New China."

What they found, of course, was the old tyranny. Every device of tyranny known to the modern practitioners in the Kremlin and elsewhere was and is being employed in Communist China.

To look upon developments in China as the forward strides of a promising new civilization is to declare oneself totally blind. The events that are remaking that vast land are no fewer than death or slavery. They are the principal marks of China today.

Stevenson, Like Dewey, Finds Self In the Outfield

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The Democratic party and its 1952 presidential candidate, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, now finds themselves in pretty much the same boat that the Republicans occupied with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York from 1944 to 1952.

Theoretically, the defeated candidate of the minority party remains its standard-bearer and titular head between elections. But it is pretty much of a figurehead job. Actually, the power is held by the defeated party's leaders in Congress.

This was the way it was with the Republicans all through the Roosevelt and Truman administrations. From 1944 to 1952 Governor Dewey was supposed to be head man. But the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and the GOP House minority leader, Rep. Joe Martin of Massachusetts, called all the shots.

Taft was a conservative. Dewey headed the more liberal wing of the party. And the two men were political rivals in three conventions for the Republican presidential nomination.

SOMETHING OF THE SAME COLORATION is found in the Democratic situation today.

Governor Stevenson is a liberal. House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson both supported most of the New Deal program when that was the popular thing to do. Speaker Rayburn worked like a Turk for Stevenson in 1952.

But both Rayburn and Johnson are Texans first, able politicians and sufficiently independent to make it unnecessary for Governor Stevenson to do their thinking for them.

The program of acceptance or opposition to President Eisenhower's policies in Congress is therefore 100 per cent Rayburn-Johnson and zero Stevenson.

Dewey at least had the advantage of hanging onto his governorship between conventions. He could speak as head of the most populous and richest state of the Union, at any rate.

There is a further factor undercutting Stevenson's influence. Somehow, his speeches in the last two years don't seem to have been as good as they were during the 1952 campaign.

HE HAS CUT OUT much of the wisecracking and witicism which added color to his earlier utterances.

Satire is a subtle bill of goods to sell and, somehow, so many literal-minded people take their politics so seriously that the Stevenson brand of humor didn't get over with the masses, even though it was good, clean fun. He was never guilty of dirty cracks, which are a more acceptable coin of the political realm.

In January 1954 he issued some New Year resolutions for Democrats. He resolved to hold fast to liberal and humane traditions and to criticize only with forethought to constructive alternatives.

By March, at a Democratic southern states rally in Miami Beach, he was indulging in all-out criticism of the Eisenhower administration. He blamed the President for McCarthy. He charged there was a numbers racket in the security firings. He blasted the new look in foreign policy and defense policy.

In the 1954 congressional election campaign, in addition to picking holes in foreign policy moves, Stevenson attacked the GOP farm policy and said the U. S. economy was "shrinking." He couldn't have been wrong on the last, but the Dems won, anyway.

STEVENSON GAVE UP politicking and went back to practicing law after the election. Maybe that is the reason for his greater silence so far this year.

But the fact remains that with Cosmic rays pass through the bodies of all human beings an average of 10 times a second.

Official magazine, polled students on one hundred and seventeen college and university campuses around the country.

The first two years of the survey Li'l Abner ran a very close second to Pogo. This year Li'l Abner won by a wide margin.

Talbot Probe Still Open by Senate Group

WASHINGTON, AP — Sen. John L. McClellan said today the investigation of Air Force Secretary Harold T. Talbot's business connection is "still open" despite Talbot's offer to leave the firm.

McClellan (D-Ark.) said his Senate investigating subcommittee will meet soon to consider testimony in which the dapper secretary denied he used his Pentagon post to promote his business.

Talbot insisted he was "clean" but offered to give up his $60,000 a year partnership in Paul B. Mulligan & Co., a New York management engineering firm, if the subcommittee thought he should.

The subcommittee speedily held an impromptu public hearing at Talbot's request after publication of photostats and excerpts from Talbot and dealt with Mulligan & Co.'s business.

Talbot said he never used his official position to solicit business for the partnership, though he admitted he might have spoken to a number of his old friends—those he knew on a first-name basis—among corporation executives about the clerical surveys Mulligan & Co. conducts for large firms.

Air Force General Counsel John A. Johnson refused to discuss with a reporter a portion of Talbot's testimony concerning him. Talbot said he talked with Johnson about the refusal of the giant Radio Corporation of America to renew its Mulligan contract without approval of the attorney general.

Johnson said he tried to read Talbot's testimony, in which the secretary said he was "disturbed" by RCA's attitude.

Talbot said, in response to questions, that he did not remember instructing Johnson to call RCA attorney Sam Ewing, nor did he remember listening to the conversation and chiming in to tell Ewing that RCA's position was "foolish and wrong."

A3/C AND MRS. ALBERT O. HAACK who were married Sunday, June 26, at the First Church of God in Gary, Ind. The bride is the former Miss Joann Rich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Rich, formerly of Muddy.

Miss Joann Rich
Former Muddy Resident
Weds in Gary, Ind.

The First Church of God, Gary, Ind., was the scene Sunday, June 26, of a double ring ceremony solemnizing the marriage of Miss Joann Rich to A3/C Albert O. Haack.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Rich, former residents of Muddy.

Flanking the candlelight altar were baskets of assorted summer flowers. Officiating clergyman for the three o'clock ceremony was the Rev. Albert A. Duke. Mrs. Mildred Stewart of Gary sang "Because," "I Love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer" as the bride and bridegroom knelt at the altar. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Paul Jones, also of Gary.

Escorted to the altar by her father the bride was crowned in a white lace over a net and satin skirt. Opalescent sequins and seed pearls enhanced the molded lace bodice which featured long sleeves and a tiny Peter Pan collar. The bouffant skirt was accented by lace panels over net. She wore a double tiered fingertip veil with a border of lace attached to a tiara of seed pearls. Arranged on a white Bible, a gift of the bridegroom, were sprays of white carnations centered with a white orchid which she carried.

Mrs. Ronald Townley of Gary served as matron of honor in a pale blue gown of taffeta with a scalloped overlay of net with ruffles. Her headpiece was of the same shade of net and carnations and blue carnations and white lace. She wore short white nylon gloves and a strand of baby pearls with matching earrings, a gift of the bride.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Georgia Murphy of Maryland, the bride's sister, and Miss Catherine Haack of Gary, the bridegroom's sister. They were crowned in pale pink and green, respectively, styled like that of the matron of honor. They also wore gloves, pearl necklaces and earrings.

Flower girl for the occasion was the bride's niece, Janet Sue Rich of Gary. She wore a floor length gown of blue taffeta and net. Her headpiece and bouquet were like those of the other attendants and she wore gloves.

Ronald Townley of Gary served as best man. Ushering the guests were the bride's brother, Harry Rich of Gary, and her nephew, Danny Murphy of Maryland. The ring bearer was the bride's nephew, Terry Murphy, also of Maryland.

A reception was held immediately after the wedding in the church. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Rich selected a light blue dress with a white print background. She had white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Before leaving on a short trip the bride changed into a navy blue dress with white accessories and she wore the orchid from her bouquet. The bride spent two weeks in Virginia where the bridegroom is stationed with the Air Force. She will make her home with her parents. She graduated from Eastern high school in Gary and is employed by the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern Railroad.

Nixon Presides As Cabinet Gets Big Four Report

WASHINGTON, AP — Vice President Richard M. Nixon presided Friday over a 2 1/2-hour cabinet meeting which received a report on the Big Four summit conference and on Russian and other reaction to President Eisenhower's mutual military inspection plan.

Nixon told reporters the report on Mr. Eisenhower's dramatic proposal included the reaction of Russia at Geneva and of other countries all around the world as gathered by the U. S. Information Agency.

The Daily Register, Harrisburg, Illinois
Friday, July 22, 1955 Page Three

Reporters asked Nixon if the Russian reaction—which he did not disclose — indicated any possible Soviet acceptance of the plan. He declined to comment.

Nixon also said the cabinet members heard a special report on the summit conference. He said it was chiefly a summary of daily reports which have been sent from Geneva to congressional leaders, in keeping with the President's pledge.

About half the session was devoted to discussion of the "Big Four" developments and reaction to Mr. Eisenhower's disarmament proposal. The other matters were described as routine.

Actress in Critical Condition from Self-Inflicted Wound

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Hospital authorities said film actress Eve Miller was in critical condition today with a self-inflicted abdominal knife wound that resulted from an argument with her fiancé over marriage.

Police said the raven-haired actress was rushed Thursday to North Hollywood Receiving hospital for emergency treatment, then was taken to General hospital where she underwent four hours of surgery for her knife wound.

According to police, the actress thrust a paring knife into her body after her fiancé, actor Glase Lohman, 31, told her he could not marry her until he was "financially able."

Astrologist is Charged With Illegal Use Mails

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Post Office Department held a preliminary hearing today on whether an Illinois Astrologist who allegedly claimed he could "remove hexes" should be allowed to use the mails.

The post office has temporarily impounded mail of Prince W. Haggarty, Champaign, pending outcome of its inquiry.

Haggarty was charged with using the mails to defraud by "making claims of powers he doesn't possess," a spokesman said. He said Haggarty advertised he could give information on lucky days and remove hexes.

A postal examiner who conducted today's closed hearing said he will announce his recommendation next Tuesday. Haggarty can appeal and present his case at an open hearing if the ban is continued.

Haggarty is founder of the "National Spiritual Health Society Church," head of the "Astrology Horoscope Reading Society," and a self-professed professor.

Haggarty said at Champaign that the "stop order" on his mail already has broken up his romance with a wealthy girl. He said she has received none of the five letters he has written since June.

Last Monday, Haggarty, his church and society filed a motion in U. S. District Court at Danville charging constitutional rights of religious freedom had been violated by the order. Judge Walter C. Lindley granted the motion's plea and freed the mail.

But Tuesday, Asst. U. S. Dist. Atty. John Morton Jones got Lindley to change his ruling so that only Haggarty's personal mail was freed, and the church and society mail withheld.

Haggarty said post office officials "approach being fascists, communists" and have "condemned the church without a trial or conviction."

Haggarty said his full title is Prof. Prince W. Haggarty. He said the title of "professor" was earned because he has been in his field for a long time and when a man professes to be something it makes him a "professional."

Field Day Held By County Aberdeen Angus Association

The Saline County Aberdeen Angus association held its field day at the J. N. Tomlinson farms near West Frankfort Sunday with nearly 100 in attendance.

The 200 foot square table space was well loaded with good things to eat with which the hostess served tea. The Tomlinson lawn with its generous shade was an ideal setting for the picnic.

Following dinner, Eugene Reynolds, president of the association, introduced three speakers: Dale Baird of Franklin Grove, secretary of the Illinois State Angus association, Forest Lemons, acting superintendent of the beef cattle at the Springfield State fair, and Joe Gossett of the St. Louis Livestock Daily, St. Louis, Mo.

Mr. Baird said there were 3,286 Angus breeders in Illinois. In fact Illinois was third in the nation with Missouri first and Iowa second. "Southern Illinois is natural cattle country," he said.

Mr. Baird, Mr. Lemons and Mr. Gossett judged the cattle which were later shown at the barn. Each observer was given a chance to exercise his or her own judgment at the same time as 12 animals were exhibited in groups of four. Three prizes were given to the men, three to the women and three to the junior class which included all under 18 years.

Those who agreed most nearly with the judges in the junior class were: Cletus Holleston, Clay City, first; Richard Browning, Ewing, second, and Wesley Somers, Cleveland, Ohio, third. The women scored as follows: First, Mrs. Cheryl Lamont of Grayville who had a perfect score, second, Mrs. Noel Bond, Galatia RFD 2, and third, Mrs. G. Browning, Ewing. For the men, first place went to Archie Hamilton, Rockwood; second, Ruel Thaxton, Equality, and third to Cheryl Lamont, Grayville.

The Tomlinson Farms have some of the best cattle in southern Illinois.

Actress in Critical Condition from Self-Inflicted Wound

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Hospital authorities said film actress Eve Miller was in critical condition today with a self-inflicted abdominal knife wound that resulted from an argument with her fiancé over marriage.

Police said the raven-haired actress was rushed Thursday to North Hollywood Receiving hospital for emergency treatment, then was taken to General hospital where she underwent four hours of surgery for her knife wound.

According to police, the actress thrust a paring knife into her body after her fiancé, actor Glase Lohman, 31, told her he could not marry her until he was "financially able."

Astrologist is Charged With Illegal Use Mails

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Post Office Department held a preliminary hearing today on whether an Illinois Astrologist who allegedly claimed he could "remove hexes" should be allowed to use the mails.

The post office has temporarily impounded mail of Prince W. Haggarty, Champaign, pending outcome of its inquiry.

Haggarty was charged with using the mails to defraud by "making claims of powers he doesn't possess," a spokesman said. He said Haggarty advertised he could give information on lucky days and remove hexes.

A postal examiner who conducted today's closed hearing said he will announce his recommendation next Tuesday. Haggarty can appeal and present his case at an open hearing if the ban is continued.

Haggarty is founder of the "National Spiritual Health Society Church," head of the "Astrology Horoscope Reading Society," and a self-professed professor.

Haggarty said at Champaign that the "stop order" on his mail already has broken up his romance with a wealthy girl. He said she has received none of the five letters he has written since June.

Last Monday, Haggarty, his church and society filed a motion in U. S. District Court at Danville charging constitutional rights of religious freedom had been violated by the order. Judge Walter C. Lindley granted the motion's plea and freed the mail.

But Tuesday, Asst. U. S. Dist. Atty. John Morton Jones got Lindley to change his ruling so that only Haggarty's personal mail was freed, and the church and society mail withheld.

Haggarty said post office officials "approach being fascists, communists" and have "condemned the church without a trial or conviction."

Haggarty said his full title is Prof. Prince W. Haggarty. He said the title of "professor" was earned because he has been in his field for a long time and when a man professes to be something it makes him a "professional."

Field Day Held By County Aberdeen Angus Association

The Saline County Aberdeen Angus association held its field day at the J. N. Tomlinson farms near West Frankfort Sunday with nearly 100 in attendance.

The 200 foot square table space was well loaded with good things to eat with which the hostess served tea. The Tomlinson lawn with its generous shade was an ideal setting for the picnic.

Following dinner, Eugene Reynolds, president of the association, introduced three speakers: Dale Baird of Franklin Grove, secretary of the Illinois State Angus association, Forest Lemons, acting superintendent of the beef cattle at the Springfield State fair, and Joe Gossett of the St. Louis Livestock Daily, St. Louis, Mo.

Mr. Baird said there were 3,286 Angus breeders in Illinois. In fact Illinois was third in the nation with Missouri first and Iowa second. "Southern Illinois is natural cattle country," he said.

Mr. Baird, Mr. Lemons and Mr. Gossett judged the cattle which were later shown at the barn. Each observer was given a chance to exercise his or her own judgment at the same time as 12 animals were exhibited in groups of four. Three prizes were given to the men, three to the women and three to the junior class which included all under 18 years.

Those who agreed most nearly with the judges in the junior class were: Cletus Holleston, Clay City, first; Richard Browning, Ewing, second, and Wesley Somers, Cleveland, Ohio, third. The women scored as follows: First, Mrs. Cheryl Lamont of Grayville who had a perfect score, second, Mrs. Noel Bond, Galatia RFD 2, and third, Mrs. G. Browning, Ewing. For the men, first place went to Archie Hamilton, Rockwood; second, Ruel Thaxton, Equality, and third to Cheryl Lamont, Grayville.

The Tomlinson Farms have some of the best cattle in southern Illinois.

U. I. Faculty Leaders Attack Loyalty Oath, But Advise Signing

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., (U. I.)—University of Illinois faculty leaders today attacked the new Broyles loyalty oath as "devastatingly negative," but recommended that U. of I. staff members sign it.

The policy committee of the university chapter of the American Association of University Professors said the new oath required of all state employees and public school teachers is the "reduction ad absurdum of the negative approach to loyalty."

However, a committee statement said, "the members of the policy committee feel that no useful purpose would be served by attempting to test the legality or legitimacy of the act by refusing to sign the required affidavit."

Holy Land Tour

By Dr. Archie Brown

TIBERIUS, ISRAEL. — At the close of our last article we left you at the open tomb of Christ. There are many things we have seen and pieces we have visited which we have not mentioned. It just cannot be told in articles like this. For instance, I did not mention our visit to the ancient city of Jericho, the Jordan River and the Dead Sea. Pages could be written about each of these.

We left our hotel this morning in Jerusalem, Jordan, and travelled by taxi to the border. For about one hour we were in "No-Man's Land." This is a space of about three blocks controlled by the United Nations Organization. There were armed soldiers on both sides of the border watching every move we made. They were stationed on the roofs of houses as well as inside the houses. There were no window panes in the houses in this area, and the battle effects upon the buildings were quite in evidence.

However, we encountered no difficulties with the customs officials on either side of the border. When we entered Israel, there were two Jewish ladies who served us fresh orangeade soon after crossing the border. This was inside the Israel Customs House. Stop at Mt. Zion

After passing through customs, we boarded a bus. That is, all except five of us boarded a bus. Jim Paul and I rode in a taxi behind the bus. Two other members of the party were with us.

Our first stop was at Mt. Zion. This is the mountain on which Jesus and His apostles first observed the Lord's Supper. We passed here for a brief worship service.

King David's tomb is on Mt. Zion. We walked inside his tomb. The Jews worship here. They believe that David's spirit is there in that room. There were two men and one woman kneeling inside his tomb at a prayer rail, reading and praying while we were there. This is the most sacred spot on earth to the Jews.

The Arabs and Jews had one of their most serious battles in the 1940s on top of Mt. Zion. The Arabs had been holding it for a long time, when one night, the Jews stormed the fort and took Mt. Zion. They possess it today.

From Mt. Zion we drove a short distance into New Jerusalem. Southern Baptists have some missionaries in Israel. Dr. and Mrs. Bob Lindsey, and their five children, serve here in New Jerusalem. We stopped by to see them about 11:30 a. m. They served all 47 of us orange juice and cookies. They took us all through their parsonage and church. They explained their work to us. They told us of the Baptist work in Nazareth and of our children's home near here. Excellent Guides

We ate a lovely dinner in a hotel, loaded into bus and taxi, and started out for Tiberias. Tiberias is about 125 miles north of Jerusalem, on the Sea of Galilee. We made a few stops on the way for pictures and explanations by our guide.

Let me say here that the guides in this part of the land are excellent. This is better than a Bible course in college.

We stopped beside the highway and saw the city of Enkari, the birthplace of John the Baptist. In another place we saw Kerath Jerim. Here Saul kept the Ark of the Covenant several years. One time the Philistines captured it, and God sent a plague upon them and caused it to be returned to His people here at this place.

Later the Ark of the Covenant was taken to Mt. Zion and placed in Solomon's Temple. Today this city is inhabited by Arabs who are friendly to the Jews. They are permitted absolute freedom. They are Moslem Arabs, and they did not fight against the Jews in the recent war.

A little later we saw a small village called Escatol. This is where Sampson was born. We stopped and took pictures here. Site of Battles

Our next stop was very interesting to us. It was at Mt. Megeddon. Many terrible battles have been fought here. The plain between Mt. Megeddon and Mt. Tabor is known as Armageddon. Many Bible scholars believe that the final world battle will be fought right here. It will be the battle of Armageddon spoken of in the Bible. As I looked upon these fields a peculiar feeling crept over my body.

As we proceeded down the highway, we travelled right around the foot of Mt. Tabor. A strong breeze was blowing down off the mountain and my straw hat blew out the window. We did not stop to get it; so I lost my straw hat at the foot of the mountain where King Saul and Johnathan were slain.

We passed by Mt. Giboah and the Mount of the Teacher. The latter is where Jesus taught the apostles to pray.

About 7:00 p. m. we came over a mountain and looked down upon the beautiful Sea of Galilee. The city of Tiberias is situated on the banks of this beautiful sea. This was our destination.

We have lovely hotel rooms and the evening meal was excellent. We had soup, fish from the Sea of Galilee, veal, peas, carrots, potatoes and cake for dessert.

About an hour after we ate we went down to the sea behind the hotel. It is only about 50 feet away. Jim and I decided we must go in swimming in the Sea of Galilee. It was a beautiful moonlight night. We got into our swim suits and had a nice swim in the moonlight.

Later Jim, Paul and I went down and sat beside the sea and talked about all the things that we could think of that had happened right here. This is where Jesus first called His Twelve Apostles. This is where He walked on the water and had Peter walking on it, also, until he took his eyes off the Master.

Across the sea Jesus drove the demons out of the Gaderend Demoniae. It was around this sea that all of Jesus' Galilean ministry took place. No wonder He loved this place so much. It is one of the most beautiful places I have ever seen in my life.

We leave here early in the morning and go to Tel Aviv and Haifa. TEL AVIV, ISRAEL, July 8.—We are about to come to the end of our Holy Land Tour now. We are sitting in the air port in Tel Aviv, Israel awaiting our turn to go through customs. We will leave by plane for Rome, Italy in just a few minutes. This article will be finished on the plane and mailed from there.

Let us go back now to yesterday morning. We left Tiberias, on the Sea of Galilee for a long sight seeing tour, by bus which would end at Tel Aviv last night.

Birthplace of Mary Magdalene
We drove around the Sea of Galilee and stopped in the ancient city of Genesaret. It is still a fisherman's village, and the birthplace of Mary Magdalene.

Near here we saw the Church of the Loaves and Fishes. This church was erected on the traditional spot where Jesus appeared early in the morning on the day after His resurrection. Do you remember the time when the disciples had "toiled all night and caught nothing?" This is the place where He caused them to catch a boat load of fish. Then, He invited them to have breakfast here which He had prepared for them. Also, here Jesus asked Peter, "Simon, lovest thou me?"

Next we saw the Mount of Beatitudes. It was here that Jesus preached the "Sermon on the Mount."

Later we saw the house of Simon Peter, where his mother-in-law was healed. Near here was the remains of an old synagogue where Jesus preached.

Down the road a little way, we stopped by the ancient hot spring of King Solomon. A relatively new hotel has been built near here, and people go there for hot baths.

TWO FEATURES AT GRAND—George Montgomery says goodbye to Karin Booth in this scene from "Seminole Uprising." In Technicolor, to show at the Grand Friday and Saturday. Johnny Weissmuller in "Jungle Moon Men," also will be shown on the double feature program.

It is somewhat like Hot Springs, Arkansas.

In an earlier installment I told you we saw the Jordan River where it flows into the Dead Sea. Yesterday we saw where it flows out of the Sea of Galilee. It is a beautiful river all the way from its source to its end. Jesus was baptized in this river. Remember?

Our next stop was at Cana of Galilee, where Jesus attended the wedding and performed His first recorded miracle. Here He turned the water into wine.

Later we stopped in Nazareth, where Jesus spent His boyhood and youth. Here He worked in Joseph's carpenter shop.

Southern Baptists have a church here. It was founded in 1925 in honor of Dr. Lee Scarborough, then President of Southwestern Seminary in Fort Worth, Texas. We, also, have a children's home or orphanage here. There are at present 400 members of the church and 20 in the children's home.

We visited with our missionaries and their families. We went all through the church and orphanage.

Snead, Harbert, Ford, Middlecoff PGA Favorites

NORTHVILLE, Mich. — Doug Ford, the 33-year-old medalist from Kiamnesia Lake, N. Y., joined defending champion Chick Harbert, Sam Snead and Cary Middlecoff in the role of co-favorites today as the 64 survivors for the PGA golf championship teed off for two gruelling rounds of match play.

Ford, who was eligible for the tournament for the first time this year and scorched the sun-baked Meadowbrook Club course in two sub-par rounds to win the $250 and the Alex Smith Memorial Trophy which go to the medalist, faced George Fazio of Conshohocken, Pa., in the first round of match play.

Two 18-hole rounds will be played today, reducing the field to 16 players. Only one round will be played daily from Saturday on, but the matches will be at 36 holes, making this annual tournament not only a test of golf, but of endurance as well.

Ford had the percentages going against him, for only twice has the medalist gone on to win the title. Walter Hagen did it in 1926 and Byron Nelson in 1945.

"That doesn't bother me," Ford grinned. "No superstitions for me, I'm strictly for cash."

Ford had rounds of 67-68 against par 71 for an aggregate of 135 to win medalist honors by two strokes from a group of four—Snead, Middlecoff, Ernie Ball and Skee Riegel.

Middlecoff Faces Toughest Test of the co-favorites, Middlecoff faced the toughest test in the first round for he was matched against Walter Burkemo, of Franklin, Mich., who won the tourney in 1953 and was runner-up to Harbert last year.

Snead, whose putter didn't work so well Thursday when he shot a par 71 against his first round 66, was paired against Al Fennell of Purchase, N. Y., while Harbert teed off against Eric Monti of Los Angeles.

The first of the 32 first-round matches paired Brian Charter of Jacksonville, Wis., against Jimmy Johnson of Detroit. Middlecoff, who shot a second round 68 in the qualifying play to go with his first round 69, and Burkemo, with a qualifying score of 144, were scheduled to start next.

Jack Fleck, the National Open champion of Davenport, Iowa, who shot his best round Thursday—a three under par 68—since he won the title at San Francisco last month, was paired against Joe Zarhardt of Greensboro, N. C., while Ed Furgol, the U. S. Open champion in 1954, faced Jim Gauntt of Oklahoma City.

Two rounds of qualifying play saw only a few name players eliminated, among them two former PGA champions, Chandler Harper and Jim Turnesa. It took an aggregate of 147 to qualify, and only 7 of the 11 players who turned in that total made it for there were 56 who had aggregates of 146 or better. So the 11 had to go into sudden death to decide the last seven berths. As defending champion, Harbert qualified automatically, but he competed in the qualifying play anyhow, winding up with a 139.

Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., and Pete Cooper of Birmingham, Mich., finished with totals of 138, 139.

Marion had a new two-year contract to manage the Chicago White Sox today and the satisfaction that even his harshest critics are silenced.

The White Sox celebrated Marion's club record $30,000 pact by rallying to defeat the New York Yankees, 9-6, Thursday and move to within one game of first place in the American league. As a result, the White Sox are in a stronger position in Marion's first year than they ever were at this stage of the race during Paul Richards' four-year regime. The Go-Go Sox showed tremendous early speed several seasons under Richards but by July 22 the trend had definitely turned against them.

But under Marion, the White Sox have been the most consistent of the four A. L. contenders. The steady gait is reflected by their 9-5 pace in April, 16-11 in May, 17-11 in June and 13-8 so far in July. They've been going between .593 and .643 for the entire campaign.

Each of the other three contenders has spurred more spectacularly at times but also has paid in slumps. The Yankees, for example, were 21-7 in May but are 7-11 this month. The Indians spurred to 18-9 in June but slumped to 15-15 in July. And the Red Sox have been driving for two months to overcome 8-8 and 11-8 paces in April and May.

Marion Outshines Richards
All in all, it's proof that the man branded as a managerial failure with the St. Louis Cardinals and Browns is running the show with a steady hand that's getting even better results than his famed predecessor.

All in all, it's proof that the man branded as a managerial failure with the St. Louis Cardinals and Browns is running the show with a steady hand that's getting even better results than his famed predecessor.

The Yankees leaped off to a 4-0 lead against Virgil Trucks in the first inning Thursday but the White Sox routed Whitey Ford with a five-run outburst in the second inning and rallied for three more in the seventh inning after New York tied the score at 6-6. Bob Kennedy broke the tie with a two-run double and scored a third run on Sherman Lollar's single.

Rookie Dixie Howell, who shut out the Yankees for the last six innings, received credit for his fourth triumph compared to one loss.

Relief ace Ray Narleski won his sixth straight game when the Indians rallied to beat the Washington Senators, 4-3, in 10 innings. Vic Feller's three-run pinch double tied the score in the ninth inning and Al Smith singled and scored all the way from first on Larry Doby's single with the decisive tally. The loss ended Washington's five-game streak.

Red Sox Beat A's
The Red Sox made it 19 out of 24 since June 25 when they defeated the Kansas City Athletics, 4-3. Frank Sullivan gained credit for his 12th triumph although Ellis Kinder closed out shop in the ninth. The defeat was Kansas City's 10th straight.

Frank House's eighth homer of the season provided the Detroit Tigers with a 1-0 win over the Baltimore Orioles in the other A. L. game, Billy Hoelt winning his 10th game and fourth shutout in out-dueling Hector (Skinny) Brown. It was Brown's first appearance since his return from Oakland.

In the National league, rookie Don Bessent won his second game in less than a week as the runaway Brooklyn Dodgers beat the Chicago Cubs, 4-1. Bessent, who broke in last Sunday with an 8-5 verdict over Cincinnati, had a shutout until Ernie Banks hit homer No. 27 in the ninth.

Warren Spahn pitched a five-hitter and hit a three-run homer to give the Milwaukee Braves a 5-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Spahn struck out six as he personally snapped a three-game Milwaukee losing skid.

Giants Edge Cardinals
Willie Mays and Sid Gordon homered as the New York Giants eked out a 6-5 decision over the St. Louis Cardinals, Don Liddle picking up his fourth win in relief and Brooks Lawrence suffering his sixth loss. Gus Bell hit three homers for the Cincinnati Redlegs in the only night game but it wasn't enough as the Philadelphia Phillies scored a 5-3 victory for their 10th straight. Jack Meyer won his fourth game as Roy Smalley and Marv Blaylock delivered key singles in the Phillies' three-run eighth inning rally.

one behind Snead, Middlecoff, Ball and Riegel. At 139 along with Harbert were Wally Ulrich of Rochester, Minn., and Lew Worsham of Oakmont, Pa.

Ulrich had the hottest nine in the qualifying play, shooting five under par 30, but he bogeyed two of the last three holes to wind up with a 38 for a 68.

Ulrich met the veteran Dutch Harrison in the first round today.

XXIV
Michael Shayne sat down wearily in a wooden chair. "Let's assume Hugh Allerdice did escape that way and phoned his wife next morning to hitchhike to Miami and meet him here. What significance did the rooming house have? Bristow and the strangled girl? Could Allerdice be the one who phoned me?"
"Could be. Though it doesn't make much sense for his own wife to have been tied up in the trunk of his car."
"Maybe he wanted to get rid of her and not share the money."
"But he'd arranged to have her meet him here," argued Rourke.
"So she said," reminded Shayne. "We don't even know she is Beatrice Allerdice. And there's still no connection with Bristow. Listen. Do you have back files of a New Orleans paper? Can we back-track to the date of the robbery and the trial? There should be pictures of all of them at that time."
"Sure. We should have a file for a month or so back. Let me check the date if it gives it here." Rourke studied the story again, said doubtfully. "At most two months ago. I don't know." He went to the rear of the musty file room, turned on more lights and began searching while Shayne sat hunched forward on his wooden chair, dragging deeply on a cigarette and moodily reviewing the few things they knew and the great many things they didn't know about the affair.

Shayne tugged at his earlobe and looked up hopefully as Rourke returned carrying a heavy file of papers. "We're in luck. Just got under the deadline before they clear the old ones out. Here's your first story."
He spread a New Orleans paper under a bright light and began to read:
"Hugh Allerdice, youthful bank messenger for the City Trust Company, was being held by police late this afternoon on suspicion of theft in the disappearance of an $80,000 payroll being transported by him to the Atlas Construction Company earlier today.
"There are altogether too many discrepancies in this young man's story," said Captain Allen P. Welles of the Theft Squad in a prepared statement handed to the press at four o'clock. "We are making no charge against him as yet, but will continue questioning him until we are satisfied."
Shayne grunted. "Ten to one they got a confession out of him by midnight."
Rourke continued reading: "According to Allerdice's story, he left the bank at 10 o'clock this morning with the payroll in a leather bag locked to his wrist with a steel chain. Within half a block of the bank, he claims a large black sedan drew up beside him and two men leaped out and threw a heavy sack over his head, overpowering him and thrusting him into the back of the sedan which then moved away rapidly. Unfortunately for Allerdice, no witnesses have come forward to confirm this part of his story.
"He was beaten unconscious, he claims, and when he came to slightly after noon, he was lying beside a country road outside the city limits and the money-bag was missing. He made his way to a telephone and reported the incident to police headquarters, and has stoutly maintained his innocence of any complicity in the affair throughout an afternoon of intensive questioning."
"Wait a minute, Mike!" Rourke went on excitedly. "Here's something: A reporter who went to the small house in the Paradise section occupied by the Allerdices and a roomer, Jack Bristow, found no one at home in mid-afternoon, and was informed by neighbors that Mrs. Beatrice Allerdice, pretty young wife of the accused bank messenger, is in a hospital where she recently underwent an operation for appendicitis."
Shayne was sitting erect, his gray eyes gleaming with satisfaction. "So Allerdice snatched $80 grand, and Jack Bristow was rooming with him when it happened. Now this begins to add up."
Rourke had been scanning the second day's story. "There's a picture of the Allerdices here, and a small inset of Bristow. Take a look at her, Mike. She the one?"
Shayne got up eagerly to lean over and study the three pictures. He shook his head slowly after a time. "Could be. I wouldn't swear to it either way. Look at the Bristow picture. You wouldn't recognize him for sure either. I see Captain Welles got his confession," he added ironically.
"Yep. Which Allerdice repudiated the next morning and refused to sign. Said they put words in his mouth and he was so groggy by midnight he would have confessed murdering his wife to get them to lay off. But they claim

Auto Production Near Record

DETROIT (AP)—Somebody apparently forgot to tell the automobile industry it was supposed to shift into neutral this summer.
The industry is rolling along at near-record levels, even though this is the season it is supposed to taper off production and get ready for model changeovers.
The booming production was enough to rout any remaining pessimists who gloomily kept predicting the high production couldn't last.
Production for this week was expected to soar to the 170,000-car level again. In other years that would have been an all-time record for production. This year it was short of the record, but still a booming production pace.
Most of the production is coming from the industry's two biggest producers, however—Ford and General Motors. General Motors paced by an all-time weekly high production at Chevrolet last week, was turning out cars faster than it ever had before. Ford also was rolling in high gear.
Chrysler corporation will close down Chrysler production next week to prepare for 1956 models. Its production has tapered off slightly. The small producers, American Motors and Studebaker-Packard, also have had to taper off sharply because of high inventories.

Several other party leaders announced their resignations Thursday.

ed they had sufficient evidence to send him up without the confession. But here's the interesting part, Mike. Police who sought to interview Jack Bristow, roomer at the Allerdice menage, have been unable to discover any trace of him. According to Allerdice, he packed his bags and departed abruptly the day preceding the theft without saying where he was going. He had been unemployed for some time and owed three weeks rent, and Allerdice admitted he had been nagging him about paying up and believes that may be the reason he went away. The police are seeking him as a possible material witness."
"And I'll bet he never did turn up," said Michael Shayne

Two American Grandfathers Dance with Young Soviet Children at Tractor Camp

KHARKOV, Russia (AP)—A couple of American grandfathers gave Russia's new generation a potent taste of U. S. friendship when they gleefully danced with some small children and gave them piggy-back rides.
Observers said the impromptu fun boosted U. S. Soviet relations more than a dozen meetings at the conference table.

The grandfathers were among the 12 touring American farmers who stopped at a tractor factory's children's camp near here.

Youngsters from two to seven years old greeted the Americans with folk songs and dances. They concluded the welcome program with a special dance where little girls pick little boys for partners.

The fun began when a cute little 6-year-old girl walked up to Ralph A. Olson and asked him to dance.

Olson, a 54-year-old grandfather from Ellsworth, Iowa, beamed broadly and accepted graciously.

American and Russian officials applauded vigorously. The children screamed with delight.

Within minutes the other children pulled the rest of the Americans into the dance. When they finished, the farmers hoisted the youngsters on their backs and gave them rides over the grounds.

Earlier, the Americans struck a happy note at the Kharkov tractor factory by singing "We're from Iowa—That's Where the Tall Corn Grows." "Home on the Range," "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," and "I've Been Working on the Railroad."

The Ukrainians sang right back with a little ditty called "Let's Unharness the Horses, Boys," that was perhaps more in keeping with the American delegations agricultural mission.

Plant Director Pavel Y. Sablev told the Americans his plant's 15,000 workers—50 per cent of them women—produced 16,000 tractor parts in 54 SAE horsepower garden tractors daily.

The director asked Asa V. Clark of Pullman, Wash., to drive one of the big tractors as it came off the assembly line.

Clark, who owns four big tractors himself, jumped into the driver's seat and roared off through the factory yard.

He said later that it "handled well," but it seemed "about 20 years behind us" technically.

Sulphur Springs

The fine rains are very helpful to the farmers this time of year.

The oil men are still working to find oil on Newt Church's farm.

Those who called with Mrs. K. Church recently were Mrs. Jim Carnett and son, Jimmie, Mrs. William Haney and son, Roger and Bobby, and Mrs. Laverne Hathaway.

Sunday school was well attended Sunday.

Several from the church attended the youths meeting at Karbers Ridge Thursday. Mrs. Mary Lee Adams was in charge of the Sulphur Springs group.

Mrs. Gladys Godbey of Eldorado visited home folks Sunday and in the evening all visited the Big Saline cemetery and took flowers for the graves.

Mrs. Godbey is visiting relatives and friends in Detroit, Mich. Jim Carnett is on the sick list. Mrs. Esaphene Carnett visited relatives Sunday evening.

A letter came from Clyde Church in St. Petersburg, Fla., stating that he will visit home folks in August. Also his daughter, Doris Jean, who recently married Fred Strammer of Florida, will visit her grandparents in August. Shortly after returning she and her husband will enter college in Springtown, Fla.

There is going to be a shortage of fruit this season it seems, but garden products are plentiful.

Mrs. J. D. Parks received news from her nephew, Ralph Blackman in Missouri saying that they were having plenty of nice rains and good crops were available.
